In the Name of God, the Most Gracious, the Most Merciful.

Peace and God's mercy be upon you.

Praise be to God, who says, "God does not like the public mention of evil except by one who has been wronged. And God is All-Hearing, All-Knowing."

And peace and blessings be upon His Messenger, who said, "The one who has a right has a say, and the best of you is the one who fulfills his obligations best."

I went through a painful experience in which I was a victim of overconfidence and trust in those who do not deserve it. I found it my duty to warn others so they do not fall into the same trap I fell into.

This warning has two aspects: a general warning and a specific warning:

The general warning is that one should not rely on overconfidence and trust in one's dealings, especially financial ones. Rather, one must take every precaution, ensure documentation, and scrutinize contracts. In a country like ours, additional precautions should be taken to prevent influential individuals or those with connections to judges and decision-makers from usurping your rights.

A special warning is to be wary of the individuals whose names I will mention, and whom those who don't know them would consider to be examples of honesty, responsibility, piety, loyalty, and fulfilling obligations.

I entered into a partnership in a real estate project in Diriyah with a well-known member of a family of sheikhs. His father was a royal sheikh, and his brother was a member of the Council of Senior Scholars.

In this project, he was responsible for the site, while I financed the preparation, renovations, and full operating costs. At the same time, I was responsible for the operation and management of the project.

The project dragged on for several years, during which the other party pretended to be in need of cash. I allocated the profits to him, continuing to pay for repairs, maintenance, operation, and development from my own money or from my share of the profits.

However, when the project reached its peak of success, the other party fabricated an embezzlement charge and involved me in court disputes, exploiting his connections and influence. Although he failed to prove the charge, despite the expert's collusion, the judges, unfortunately, from the Court of First Instance to the Court of Appeal to the Supreme Court to the Supreme Judicial Council, sided with him using procedural tricks. He also swore a false oath, which the judges knew was false, and they forged my statement, stating that I had agreed to it as conclusive and voiding all my rights.

As a result, I lost all the capital I had invested in preparing and rehabilitating the project, which amounted to over 9 million Saudi riyals, and I lost my entire share of the profits, as well as all the effort I had invested over several years, while he seized the project and its profits from his own home.

I exerted great effort to recover my rights, but his connections and influence were stronger than me. I admit that I was a victim of my own good faith and trust in the system and those who did not deserve it. I also admit that corruption was stronger than me.

I was forced to leave my country and seek a livelihood elsewhere, having lost hope and realized the impossibility of successful investment in an environment unsuitable for those who respect the system and its principles in their money and work.

Here, I come to a special warning: The person in question is Abdullah Nasser Abdulaziz Al-Shathri, brother of Saad Nasser Abdulaziz Al-Shathri, and their father, Nasser Abdulaziz Al-Shathri. Those far from them are thought to be examples of piety, religion, honesty, and trustworthiness. Unfortunately, the result is as you have seen, reaching the level of false oaths and corrupt judges.

Let the person in question, along with the officers, judges, inspectors, and all those who colluded with him, know that my departure is not to abandon my rights, but rather so that I can claim them without being harmed or exposed to retaliation for exposing the powerful and corrupt.

All the cases are clear in terms of the violations they committed, which pose a threat to any investor.

Here, I note that if this is the case for a citizen investor, how much more so for a foreign investor!!

Therefore, I address this appeal to the Custodian of the Two Holy Mosques, King Salman bin Abdulaziz Al Saud, may God guide him.

And to the Crown Prince, His Royal Highness Prince Mohammed bin Salman, may God guide him.

I begin by saying, "Peace, mercy, and blessings of God be upon you."

Subject: Corruption and Influence of Abdullah Nasser Abdulaziz Al-Shathri, whose brother Saad Nasser Abdulaziz Al-Shathri works as a member of the Council of Senior Scholars and as a special advisor to the Crown Prince in the Royal Court, as well as the corruption of judges, inspectors, the Supreme Judicial Council, the Ministry of Justice, the police, their collusion, and their role in the loss of my rights and their cover-up of my opponent.

Introduction:

I would like to inform Your Highness that I, Zaid Mohammed S Asbaih, with National ID number 1037155247, entered into a contract with the individual named Abdullah Nasser

Abdulaziz Al-Shathri, with National ID number 1054844129, for the management and operation of a residential-commercial complex in Diriyah. I was subjected to fraud and deceit by Abdullah Nasser Abdulaziz Al-Shathri, and six cases were heard by the relevant authorities over five years. However, it is clear to Your Highness, upon reviewing the details of the lawsuits below, that laws and regulations were not applied correctly, and there was no proper legal consideration or fair judicial approach, resulting in the loss of my rights and money. When I approached the Supreme Judicial Council, which supervises the judiciary, they refused to address the complaints submitted to resolve the issue, which forced me to contact Your Highness in order to achieve justice and judicial fairness. Therefore, I kindly request Your Highness to review this matter and direct the necessary action to correct the judicial procedures and the errors present in the court rulings.

I invested an amount of over nine million Saudi riyals, and when the profits began, I was accused of embezzlement, and the court was requested to investigate me. An expert report was issued to prove that this accusation was false. The matter then turned into poor management, followed by an oath of finality, which I did not agree to, to dismiss my rights and annul my contract. When I demanded my profits, my case was rejected due to lack of standing. How is it that my opponent's case was accepted, yet mine was not when I filed a lawsuit against him? I then filed another case demanding the return of my capital and profits. A decision was made to appoint an expert, but it was later reversed under the pretext that I was not a partner, but a speculator, and my case was dismissed.

That was the end of it all...
I have been deprived of my money, effort, and profits through unjust rulings that are unacceptable to reason, law, or Sharia, and are not acceptable to the ruler.
There is no minister or official to whom I have not submitted my complaint, but there has been no response. Everything I have mentioned here is supported by official documents. I have not lied or fabricated stories. This is my right and my money, and it has been taken from me by corrupt, unjust, and influential individuals.

I will begin by outlining the details of the topics, issues and events:

First - The Partnership Formation Stage:

Referring to the subject above, I, Zaid Mohammed S Asbaih, holder of National ID number 1037155247, a Saudi citizen passionate about work and productivity, was led by fate to enter into a contract with Abdullah bin Nasser Abdulaziz Al-Shathri, holder of National ID number 1054844129, on 18-5-2016. I found a suitable residential complex for my investment plan based on the Kingdom's Vision 2030, launched by His Royal Highness Crown Prince Mohammed bin Salman in 2016. Through my connections, I heard that the Diriyah area would have a significant share in developmental projects, so I decided to search the area for a suitable investment. I found this abandoned, vacant, and neglected complex located in the Jax neighborhood of Diriyah, west of Riyadh, covering an area of 27,000 square meters and containing 158 residential units and several service facilities. It is important to note that the project is built on land owned by the Diriyah Municipality under a 15-year usufruct agreement.

I met Abdullah Nasser Abdulaziz Al-Shathri in his office located in a villa within Al-M'athar neighborhood in Riyadh, and we signed a partnership contract (capital and effort) on 18-5-2016. The partnership terms stipulated that Abdullah Al-Shathri would be entitled to 55% of the revenue from the complex, while I would take charge of the management, operation, and exclusive leasing of the complex for 45% and pay the municipality's annual rent from the overall revenue according to the agreed ratio of 55% / 45% (Attached 1 Contract). I began working and named the complex DHC, referring to Diriyah Hills Compound, linking it to the brand of my institution and then my company. I started my work and encountered some problems and challenges during the work due to the new regulations, Vision 2030 projects, and some construction issues with the complex. However, I managed to overcome these obstacles and began the preparation, operation, and leasing of ready and vacant units within (6) months.

In early 2018, an agreement was reached with Abdullah Al-Shathri to develop and divide the larger residential units into smaller ones to meet the growing demand for smaller units. I began development works on the complex to increase its efficiency and revenue, and the development works continued for about (a year and a half).

However, on 28-3-2020, during the lockdown due to the COVID-19 pandemic, after nearly (4) years of work and substantial revenue for both parties, when I was close to completing the final touches on the section under development and the complex was generating an annual income of about 7 million Saudi riyals, the complex's reputation has reached major local and foreign companies, and its clients are affiliated with the Public Investment Fund and foreign companies, such as NEOM, the Red Sea, Qiddiya, Amaala, Diriyah Gate, etc.my partner, Abdullah Al-Shathri, along with Abdullah Al-Ajmi, And Nasser Saud Saad Al-Arifi, a group of clerics individuals, and security guards, forcibly expelled me from the project in a manner that was thuggish and against the law.

They then proceeded with illegal actions by enticing my employees, who were under my institution's sponsorship, to work with them in exchange for higher salaries. When they refused, they attacked one of them, locked him in his room, and then entered my house and office, which were located within the complex. They seized the camera recordings, my files, invoices, accounting books, and personal belongings. They also hung a paper on the complex's gate with my full name, ID number in both Arabic and English, warning people not to deal with me (Attached 2 Notices).

Second - The Stage of Approaching the Police and the Public Prosecution:

I immediately went to the Diriyah Police Department, which was headed at the time by Colonel Ahmed Al-Samhan and his assistant, Colonel Saad Al-Qahtani, to assist me. However, they refused to help and even rejected opening a report for the assault, justifying their refusal by claiming that this was a commercial dispute, deliberately or ignorantly ignoring the fact that the core of my complaint was about the illegal intrusion into my home and office, and the seizure of my business documents and personal belongings, which constitutes a criminal offense punishable by law.

After being shocked by the actions of the police department, I then went to the Diriyah Public Prosecution branch, but they refused to take any action, citing the lack of a report from the police. This is all against the law, as a case file must be opened with an official report, with a number and date, followed by an initial investigation to record statements, after which the case should be referred to the public prosecution for appropriate legal action.

This situation left me confused. The public prosecution required a report from the police, while the police refused to open the report. As a result, my rights were lost, leading me to resort to the courts.

Third - The Stage of Courts and Judiciary:

1. Due to the Police's Refusal to Apply the Law:

I went to the General Court and filed a lawsuit against Abdullah Al-Shathri, requesting the return of possession, which is one of the urgent cases by law. The case was registered under number 411456575 on 15/11/1441 AH in Division 5, presided over by Judge Al-Tuwaresh. However, they did not take into account that it was an urgent matter. On the contrary, there was unjustified procrastination, and the request for urgency was completely ignored. Despite my repeated visits to the judicial division, nothing was done. Out of concern for my rights, especially the seizure of my business documents and personal property, as I explained earlier, I was forced to request that my case be joined with the case filed by my opponent in Division 16, which I will explain below.

2. The Malicious Lawsuit Filed Against Me by My Opponent:

As I mentioned earlier, my urgent lawsuit was dismissed. While waiting for the court date for my possession return case, my opponent filed a malicious lawsuit against me in the name of the Real Estate Investment Construction Company, which is owned and managed by Abdullah Nasser Abdulaziz Al-Shathri. The case was registered under number 411443802 on 7/11/1441 AH in Division 16 at the General Court in Riyadh (Attached 3 Lawsuit). The subject of the case was an accusation that I had embezzled and betrayed trust, requesting an investigation into my actions and to hold me accountable.

It is important to note that this lawsuit is contrary to the law, as it is not permissible for him to instruct the court to investigate me. The court is not an investigative body, and this is a violation of the judicial process. It was surprising and raised doubts about the professionalism of the judge, as it is well-known even to ordinary people (not just lawyers) that investigations should be carried out by the relevant authorities and in accordance with established procedures.

I had no choice but to attend the first session. The biggest surprise came when the presiding judge, Judge Mohammed Al-Luhaidan, immediately began attacking me, shouting, and asking if I had embezzled 7 million riyals. "Confess!" he demanded. He repeated the question, asking whether I had embezzled 7 million riyals from Abdullah Al-Shathri. I replied, "No, and this company has no standing." The judge then yelled at me, saying, "Don't philosophize; just answer the question!" He then asked me how much money I had received. I replied that I did not recall the exact figure, but it was around one million riyals.

Then, the judge calmly asked the plaintiff's representative, Abdullah Al-Ajmi, where the partnership documents and the land deed were. He answered nervously, saying that he did not have them and requested more time to bring them. I immediately informed the judge that I had copies of the documents. The judge asked me to open the camera and present them. He then asked the plaintiff's representative if these documents were correct, to which he nervously replied, "Yes." The judge then asked him to bring his evidence for the next session.

I immediately filed a complaint against the judge with the President of the Riyadh Court (Attached 4 the complaint for the removal of the judge, filed under number 425034995 on 25/2/1442 AH), detailing the judge's inappropriate behavior and misconduct during the session, and requested the removal of the judge. The court's office asked me to submit it to the judge's office. I went to the judge's office and handed it to an employee, who seemed displeased. My request for the judge's removal was rejected. A new session was scheduled, and when it opened, the judge appeared nervous and agitated. My attorney, Badr Al-Shiddi, attended with me, but the opponent did not show up. The judge then decided to dismiss the case against me.

A new session was scheduled without the filing of a reconsideration request for a dismissed case (again, this was a violation of the law without justification and illogical). A new representative for the plaintiff appeared, Attorney Abdullah Al-Abd Al-Jabbar. He did not present any evidence for their claim but requested the appointment of an accounting expert to verify the amounts received and carry out an accounting audit. We agreed to this request.

The Stage of Reviewing My Possession Return Case Mentioned in Section 1:

After the previous session in my opponent's case, and at the same time, Judge Mohammed Al-Luhaidan decided to review my case, No. 411456575, dated 15/11/1441 AH, related to the return of possession, where I was forcibly evicted during the validity of my contract. The case was against Abdullah Nasser Abdulaziz Al-Shathri, and the judge immediately decided to dismiss the case (Attached 5 the preliminary judgment, No. 421186535, dated 21-4-1442 AH). Judge Mohammed Abdullah Al-Luhaidan opened the session and immediately decided to dismiss my case regarding the return of possession, linking the judgment to the future ruling in case No. 411443802. It is important to note that the judge made this decision despite knowing that there was no evidence against me and no preliminary investigation had been conducted regarding this issue, even though the principle is that a person is innocent until proven guilty.

In summary:

I lost my right to pursue my opponent criminally because the police and the prosecution refused to open a case file. I also lost my right to pursue my case before Judge Mohammed Al-Luhaidan, and my opponent was given the opportunity to file a case against me for embezzlement without following the proper legal procedures.

The Expert Stage:

The plaintiff company chose the expert office of Nasser Abdulaziz Al-Kanhel & Partners, Accountants and Financial Consultants, claiming that it was the cheapest. We agreed to this and the court accepted it, assigning the expert to handle the financial matters between the parties. We provided the expert with all our documents and explained that we were forcibly evicted and had only the documents we submitted. We requested that the expert visit the site and conduct the necessary evaluations, but my opponent, Abdullah Al-Shathri, prevented him from doing so. Consequently, the expert's report concluded that there was no embezzlement, with some formal remarks on both parties regarding the procedures (Attached 6 the expert's report).

Suddenly, Judge Mohammed Al-Luhaidan was replaced without any explanation, and a new judge named Abdullah Al-Hammad took his place. Based on the summary of the expert report, the new judge decided to dismiss the case (Attached 7 the first preliminary judgment, No. 431984386, dated 4-5-1443 AH). The plaintiff company objected to the ruling, and the primary court judge overturned his decision without providing a reason, which is against the law. Then, the judge ruled to terminate the contract (Attached 8 the second preliminary judgment, No. 437578666, dated 13-9-1443 AH), based on the formal observations in the expert's report, without discussing the report or giving us an opportunity to respond, which is also against the law. The judge's reversal of the ruling should have been justified, but the report itself remained the same, and not allowing a discussion is a violation of the law. The expert's opinion is not binding; it is merely advisory.

One of the court's division employees informed me that during the objection period, the company's representative, Abdullah Al-Abd Al-Jabbar, went to meet with the judge, and said, "You can meet with the judge and explain your case to him." However, the judge refused to let me in without any valid reason.

In Summary:

There are many suspicious aspects in this case. Firstly, the case was filed requesting an investigation into my alleged embezzlement, which is itself not allowed, as the court is not an investigative body. The greatest issue is the judgment to terminate the contract, which was not requested by either party in the dispute. Additionally, the judge's reversal of the ruling without providing reasons and completely ignoring my own claim regarding the return of possession is highly questionable. I leave it to Your Highness to comment on this judicial chaos, which is unbefitting of our esteemed Kingdom.

Stage of Appeal:

We were forced to respond to the illogical and unjustified reasons provided by the judge for terminating the contract, which contradict the contract itself and violate the laws and judicial principles. This led us to file an objection to the ruling through an appeal, which, in itself, was a violation of the system because the pleading had not yet concluded, and the discussion had not taken place.

The primary court initially ruled in our favor, but after the first session at the Court of Appeals in Riyadh, which was held before Judicial Division No. 10, consisting of Judges Hani Al-Jubair, Abdullah Al-Laboun, and Issa Al-Ghaith, the ruling turned in our favor. Upon attending the first session, I read the ruling in the case, which stated:

"After reviewing the objection presented by the appellant, and as the report did not indicate any violation on the part of the defendant, especially since he has been managing the compound for five years, the court ruled to accept the objection both form and substance, and annulled the ruling issued under number 437578666 on 13-9-1443 AH. The court ruled to dismiss the request for the termination of the contract. The ruling was pronounced in a public session" (Attached 9 the first Appeal Judgment).

At that moment, I believed that justice had been served. But what happened next will point to the rampant corruption in the judiciary, and this is what I will explain to Your Highness. The goal is not only to defend my rights, but also to defend the integrity of the judiciary in our beloved Kingdom. Here is a detailed account of what happened:

- As we awaited the start of the session, we noticed suspicious movement in the host's accounts. The session began, and the judge immediately started yelling at me, asking, "What harm would it cause if we terminate your contract?" I responded, "How could there be harm? Why would you terminate my contract?" The judge interrupted me and yelled, "Answer the question, don’t respond with another question!" I replied, "The loss of benefits to me." Then the judge calmly asked the opposing party, "Have you reviewed the objection?" The opposing party replied, "No, I haven't," even though the objection was available in the Najiz system. The judge yelled at me, "Why didn’t you send him the objection?" and demanded I send it immediately, asking for his phone number and email. I complied.

- After ten minutes, the judge asked the opposing party for their response to the objection. The opposing party claimed that I had concealed the condition of the place and failed to inform them of the delays in the payments according to the work program, and that there were no construction issues.

- Their accusations shifted from embezzlement and breach of trust to poor management, then to hiding the project's condition. This inconsistency violated the law and changed the subject of the lawsuit without any valid grounds.

- The judge, in a furious tone, asked me, "What is your response?" I replied, "I didn't conceal anything. He knew there was a delay, and if I had concealed it, I request an oath." The judge asked the opposing party, "Will you swear an oath?" They agreed. The judge asked me, "What should the wording be?" I responded, "(I swear by Allah) I did not agree with the plaintiff to delay the construction expenses due to construction problems, and I did not inform him of the operational expenses." The session was adjourned, and another date was set.

- We received a message about the adjournment, which included a document to verify the minutes. Upon reviewing the document, we were shocked to find that it stated: "The two parties agreed that this oath is conclusive and will waive all their rights in the lawsuit!" We refused to certify the document.

- Several days later, we began the second appeal session, and immediately informed the judge that we did not agree that this oath would waive our rights in the lawsuit and that we did not certify the minutes. The judge, flustered, asked, "Who is speaking?" We answered, "The appellant." He then angrily told us, "Shut up!" We repeated our message, but the judge responded again, "I told you to shut up!"

The judge then asked the opposing party, "Are you ready to take the oath?" They replied, "Yes, but for the sake of clarity, I am aware of the delay in the work but did not expect it to be this long." The judge, however, refrained from recording this statement or discussing it. Instead, he told them, "Say after me, 'I swear by Allah I did not agree with the defendant to delay the construction expenses, nor did he inform me about the operational expenses.'"

The judge changed the wording of the oath, which violated the law. Throughout the session, we kept insisting that we did not agree on this oath, but the judge silenced us by turning off our microphone. The ruling was then issued:

"The court accepts the objection in form and affirms the ruling to terminate the contract under judgment No. 437578666 on 13-9-1443 AH" (Attached 10 the second Appeal Judgment).

The final ruling by the Court of Appeals, which affirmed the initial judgment to terminate the contract, was based on a new justification — the oath, which was improperly imposed, and the forgery of my statement. Even the act of forgery is against the law. We then submitted a request for cassation to the Supreme Court, which was rejected without providing any reasons, which also violates the law and judicial principles.

In Summary:

The use of a conclusive oath to achieve justice in this case was grossly misapplied. We never agreed that the oath would waive all our rights, and the judge did not listen to our objection or adhere to the oath's terms as we had presented them. These are not mere judicial errors but catastrophic failures that undermine justice and violate rights.

Phase of the Supreme Judicial Council:

The litigation phase in the courts had ended, and I approached the Supreme Judicial Council to file a complaint about the violations and manipulations by the judges, which led to my losing the case and the loss of my rights. I demanded accountability for the violating judges, a solution to my issue, and the return of my rights. The complaint was registered under number 220202221 on 15/3/1444 AH and was referred to the inspector, Hussam Al-Harbi, who said he would study the issue. He then informed us that he had requested the recordings from the court that issued the ruling in the Court of Appeal.

We followed up with the inspector after two weeks, and he said the court had not sent the recordings, and he would remind them. We followed up again after another two weeks, and he said the court had sent several recordings. He then asked us in which session we requested the oath, and we said the first session. He said that the court which issued the ruling had sent the wrong recordings, which did not pertain to your sessions, and he would request them again.

We followed up again after two weeks, and the inspector, flustered, said the court had refused to send the recordings, and he was forced to close the complaint because it had taken too long. The inspector closed the complaint without addressing my request, which prompted me to meet with the President of the Supreme Judicial Council.

Phase of the meeting with the President of the Supreme Judicial Council:

I booked an appointment to meet with the President of the Supreme Judicial Council, Walid Al-Samaani, and a complaint was opened under number 164168 on 11/5/1444 AH. I explained to the President what happened in the Court of Appeal and with the inspector. He was surprised and astonished, then said: "How can the inspector say he requested the recordings from the Court of Appeal?? The recordings are with us in the council!!" He said this loudly, then slammed his hand on the table forcefully. He decided to refer the complaint to Inspector Bassam Al-Nusseiri.

Inspector Bassam Al-Nusseiri refused to review the complaint, saying that it was a violation of the system, as the system prevents another inspector from reviewing the same case and closed the complaint. He told me to go back to my original inspector, Hussam Al-Harbi.

I approached Inspector Hussam Al-Harbi and informed him that I had met with the President of the Council and told him that you had said you requested the recordings from the Court of Appeal and they refused to send them to you, and you closed the complaint. He jumped out of his seat and shouted at me, saying, "I never said I requested the recordings, and the court refused to send them." He then became flustered and said, "I studied the complaint and found nothing in it." I asked him, "How did you study the complaint? Did you listen to the recordings to study the complaint?" He replied, flustered again, "I studied the complaint and found nothing."

I went to the Director of Inspectors, Abdullah Al-Usaylan, and informed him of what happened with Inspector Hussam Al-Harbi and my meeting with the President of the Council. He said he would study the issue and asked me to follow up in a week. When I followed up, he asked me, "What is your issue??" I explained the issue again, and he said, laughing, "There is nothing we can do; the recordings are lost, and may God be with you." I asked him, "How can they be lost when the President of the Council says they are with the council??" He shook his head and laughed, saying, "They are lost, and there is nothing we can do."

I approached the President of Judicial Inspection, Saleh Al-Omari, and his office manager, Abdulrahman Al-Rasas, came out and told me to first go to the Deputy President of Judicial Inspection, Abdullah Al-Khudayri. If the issue wasn't resolved, then I could meet with the President of Judicial Inspection. I met with Deputy President of Judicial Inspection, Abdullah Al-Khudayri, who said, flustered, "In reality, the recordings are not with the council; they are with the Court of Appeal, Case Number 16. They are not lost as in misplaced, but they are 'lost' because they were never there in the first place. The user through whom the judge logs in does not record them, so they cannot be accessed. The inspectors' statements are correct that they are lost, but they were explained incorrectly." I told him, "Inspector Hussam Al-Harbi says the court refused to send them, the President of the Council says the recordings are with the council, and the court's website says the recordings are with the Ministry's records. Which of these statements is correct?" He did not answer. He then asked me, "Do you have the recordings?" I said, "The system prevents me from recording, and it states that the recordings are kept in the Ministry's records." He then asked for the session's report and asked me to show where I didn't say something. I showed him that I did not agree that the oath was conclusive and would annul my entire case. He said, "Simple, I'll delete it for you now!!!" I was surprised and frightened by his words and said, "I'll get back to you after asking the lawyer about this issue." I told the lawyer what happened, and he said, "This is a lie; they won't be able to delete it, and it's against the system."

I returned to Deputy President of Judicial Inspection, Abdullah Al-Khudayri, and asked him not to delete the report but to provide me with a document that confirms I did not agree that this oath was conclusive and annulled my entire case so that I could submit a motion for reconsideration and reopen the case. He replied, "Give me the recordings first, and then I'll delete the report for you." The goal was to refer me to the prosecution for making a recording!! I presented to him the session report from the Court of Appeal, which contained a ruling in my favor that exposed the forgery and manipulation and contradicted the other ruling issued in another session. I asked him, "Since the recordings are lost according to you, which of the two rulings is correct?" He became afraid and flustered, asking, "Where did you get this report from?" I replied, "It's available in the system." He became more flustered and nervous and gave it to an employee sitting next to him, instructing him to go immediately to Inspector Hussam Al-Harbi. Then he said to me, flustered again, "We will handle the issue." I followed up with Inspector Hussam Al-Harbi after several days. When I met with him, his behavior had changed, and he smiled a lot, asking, "Is this report still available? Why didn't you tell me about it before?" I answered, "Yes, and I didn't need to inform you about it because my request was clear: to refer to the session's recordings." He said, "Now, please, tell me: who is telling the truth, you or the judge?" I asked, "Which of the two rulings is correct?" He replied, "I'll handle the issue immediately." I asked him, "How will you handle the issue?" He responded, "I'll delete the report from the system!" I asked, "Which report?" He replied, "This report with the ruling in your favor!" I asked him, "How do you know that this is the correct report and the other one is wrong? Did you listen to the recordings?" He became flustered and said, "I already told you the recordings are not available. I believe this report is incorrect." I asked him, "How do you know?" He became flustered and did not answer.

I then approached the President of Judicial Inspection, Saleh Al-Omari, and informed him of what had happened with Deputy President of Judicial Inspection Abdullah Al-Khudayri, and the Director of Inspectors, Abdullah Al-Asilan, and Inspector Hussam Al-Harbi, and Inspector Bassam Al-Nusseiri. He said, "I'll study the issue," but no action was taken.

I booked another appointment to meet with the President of the Council and filed a complaint under number 171827 on 21/8/1444 AH about what happened to me with the manipulations after my previous complaint, which he had referred to Inspector Bassam Al-Nusseiri. He told me, "I'll refer it to the President of Judicial Inspection, Saleh Al-Omari." I met with President of Judicial Inspection, Saleh Al-Omari, who asked, "We've met before, and you filed a complaint, right?" I replied, "Yes." He then asked, "What exactly do you want? You only want your rights, correct?" I said, "Yes, and to hold the judges accountable." He asked, "What are their names, and in which court?" I replied, "Abdullah Al-Layboun, Isa Al-Ghaith, and Hani Al-Jubair, from the Court of Appeal, Case No. 16, and I have all the complaint details with you." He said, "Okay, we'll get in touch with you." The complaint was referred to Inspector Bassam Al-Nusseiri and was closed without any action being taken.

I booked another appointment to meet with President of the Supreme Judicial Council Walid Al-Samaani, and a complaint was filed under number 188394 on 11/2/1445 AH about what happened with my last complaint. He said, "I'll refer it to the Director of Inspectors, Abdullah Al-Usaylan." I met with Director of Inspectors Abdullah Al-Usaylan, who said, "I'll study the issue," and then the complaint was closed without any action being taken.

I booked another appointment to meet with President of the Supreme Judicial Council Walid Al-Samaani and informed him of what had happened. He said, in a dismissive manner, "So you were the ones who asked for the oath. What's the problem?" I said, "The oath was not productive in the case. How could the court accept it? This violates the system." He fell silent and became flustered, not responding. I then said, "Why wasn't the Evidence System applied, and why wasn't my right explained to me? The court should have informed me that my request for the conclusive oath would annul my evidence." He turned to a person sitting next to him and started whispering to him, then said, "The Evidence System hadn't been issued yet at that time." I replied, "It has nothing to do with the Evidence System. The article related to the conclusive oath was present in the Civil Procedure Code and Criminal Procedure Code before the issuance of the new Evidence System." He became angry and said, "We'll study the issue." I then said, "I didn't agree that the oath would be conclusive and annul my entire case." He became angry, yelled at me, and slammed his hand on the table, saying, "I told you, we'll study the issue." Thus, the complaint was closed without any action being taken.

I booked another appointment to meet with President of the Supreme Judicial Council Walid Al-Samaani, and a complaint was filed under number 198438 on 8/6/1445 AH. I informed him of what had happened. He read a full report briefly summarizing the result of the complaint, which stated that the oath was unproductive, violated the system, the system wasn't applied, and I didn't agree that it annulled my entire case, and other violations. He said, "Your complaint is valid!" I asked him, "Where is my right?" He yelled at me, saying, "I told you; your complaint is valid!" I asked again, "Where is my right and my money?" He yelled again, saying, "Enough!!" The complaint was closed without any action being taken, and he refused to give me a copy of the report or take any kind of action.

My Knowledge of What Happened Previously in the Court of Appeal:

During the complaints and follow-up stage at the Supreme Judicial Council and the Judicial Inspection, I approached an employee at the Court of Appeal in Riyadh and explained to him what happened at the Judicial Inspection regarding the issue of two rulings being issued. He explained that the reason for the issuance of the judgment was that one of the appellate judges did the study and then adjusted it to ensure that the judgment would be pronounced on the session's date. However, another judge logged in with a different user and manipulated the situation, and there is a cover-up regarding your case.

Once again, I leave it to Your Highness to look into this judicial farce happening in our kingdom, which is built on its pride and greatness by Your Highness.

Stage of the Royal Court:

During the phase of the Supreme Judicial Council and the Judicial Inspection, I approached the Royal Court to file a complaint about the violations and manipulations by judges in the courts of first instance, appeals, and the Supreme Court, as well as the Supreme Judicial Council and the Judicial Inspection, which led to my loss of the case and the loss of my rights. I demanded accountability for the President of the Supreme Judicial Council, the President of the Judicial Inspection, and its members and staff, and finding a solution to my issue and giving me my rights. I submitted a complaint through the Royal Court's website addressed to the Custodian of the Two Holy Mosques, King Salman, which was registered under the number 171599 on 12/7/1444 AH, regarding what happened to me in the council and the courts. The complaint was referred to the Supreme Judicial Council, and the Government Communications Center in the council referred it to the President of the Council, who archived it and then closed it without taking any action.

I submitted another complaint on the Royal Court's website, which was registered under the number 43512 on 19/2/1445 AH, regarding what the council had done with the previous complaint. The Royal Court once again referred it to the Supreme Judicial Council, and the same result occurred: it was archived without any action being taken.

I submitted another complaint on the Royal Court's website, which was registered under the number 140005 on 28/5/1445 AH, requesting an urgent meeting with His Royal Highness, Crown Prince Mohammed bin Salman, but it was rejected (a screen recording video of all the complaints submitted to the Royal Court is attached, as no receipt notification is sent after submission).

Stage of the Anti-Corruption Commission (Nazaha):

I went to the Anti-Corruption Commission (Nazaha) and submitted a complaint both on their website and by email, but they refused to take any action. Sometimes they say, "We have no relation to the judiciary," other times they say, "It was archived," or "You have no right," or "There is no complaint," and at other times they say, "We have stopped receiving complaints!" (A screen recording video is attached because no receipt notification is sent after submission).

Stage of the Human Rights Commission:

I contacted the Saudi Human Rights Commission and told them that my money and contract were seized, and I had been subjected to unfair trials. All related entities refuse to take any action, and this is a violation of my civil and human rights. They told me that the judiciary is not within their jurisdiction, and unfair trials do not constitute a violation of human rights and are not within the scope of the Human Rights Commission's work!

Stage of the Riyadh Region Emirate:

I submitted a complaint to the Riyadh Region Emirate against the Police Department of Al-Diriyah Governorate for failing to open a report and refer the matter to the Public Prosecution as per the regulations. The complaint was registered under the number 94791 on 5/6/1445 AH and referred to the office of the Riyadh Emir's Council, but no action was taken (Attached 11 the complaints to the Riyadh Emirate).

3. The lawsuit I filed to Demand the Return of Capital and Profits:

I filed a lawsuit demanding my profits from the project from the beginning of the contract until the contract was terminated. The case was registered under number 439173342 on 11/8/1443 AH in Circuit No. 35, presided over by Judge Hani Abdul Rahman Mabti Al-Salmi. I attended the first session, and the judge immediately ruled in the first session to dismiss the case for lack of standing of the defendant in the lawsuit!!! (Attached 12 the preliminary ruling No. 433640478 dated 21-11-1443 AH). This is contrary to the system and judicial principles. We were not even allowed to discuss, and we had to respond to the illogical reasons of the judge by requesting an appeal. This is a violation of the system because the litigation had not even started to end, and no discussion took place.

Stage of Appeal:

The lower court ended with a ruling against us by dismissing the case for lack of standing, and we began the first session in the Court of Appeal in Riyadh before Circuit 5, with judges Abdul Hamid Al-Badee and Abdullah Al-Hamoud Ahmed Al-Askar. Our objection was based on the logic of how the opposing party could file a case against me and it be accepted, while when I file a case against them, it is not accepted under the same contract?! And why was the party with standing not notified according to the system?! We relied on the laws and judicial principles and clarified the violations and contradictions. The objection was rejected without any explanation or discussion of the objection, and the judgment became final (Attached 13 Appeal ruling No. 4430033503 dated 16-2-1444 AH). We then filed a request for cassation to the Supreme Court, which was rejected without stating the reason. This is contrary to the system and judicial principles, and there is a contradiction in the decisions of the Supreme Court.

Stage of the Supreme Judicial Council:

The litigation phase in the courts ended, and we went to the Supreme Judicial Council to file a complaint about the violations and manipulations by the judges, which led to me losing the case and my rights being denied. I demanded accountability for the violating judges, a resolution to my issue, and the return of my rights. The complaint was filed with Inspector Bassam Al-Nosayri under the number 220200471 on 14/3/1444 AH (Attached 14 Complaint regarding standing). The inspector said the judgment was correct and there were no violations. I explained the violations to him, but he refused to address the matter and insisted on his decision.

I went to the Deputy Head of Judicial Inspection, Abdullah Al-Khudeiri, who acknowledged the validity of the complaint and the violations. He said, "Yes, you have a right here," and communicated with Inspector Bassam Al-Nosayri in front of me via a WhatsApp voice message, informing him of the validity of the complaint and explaining it clearly. He then asked me to follow up with Inspector Bassam Al-Nosayri after two days. He dismissed my situation with a laugh and said, "You're like the divorced women who file a lawsuit against their ex-husbands asking for alimony even though he has no standing because he is no longer her husband, but she still demands the payment of alimony!!" I said, "How can you compare a commercial case with a commercial contract and partnership to a marriage and divorce case?!" I followed up with Inspector Bassam Al-Nosayri, and he insisted on his decision, refusing to address the complaint and rejecting the Deputy Head of Judicial Inspection's opinion. He then asked, "What do you think?" I said, "Both judgments are correct in terms of standing, but the previous ruling regarding the termination of the contract is more accurate because the other party acknowledged their standing and swore an oath based on it, and the case acquired the authority of res judicata, both in form and substance. This case came before the other one, in addition to the fact that the circuit did not follow the system by postponing the consideration until notifying the party with standing, which was unnecessary because of the previous judicial acknowledgment of the standing related to the contract." He mocked my words and said, "This is the first time I hear such a thing!!" then got angry and raised his voice, saying, "With hand gesture, We have not seen god, but we have known him. You do not understand anything!!!". The complaint was closed with a response stating that your request was rejected and that the lack of standing of the defendant is not within the jurisdiction of the Competency Dispute Resolution Committee, which is not correct because it falls under its jurisdiction according to the Judicial System.

4. The Lawsuit I Filed for the Second Time to Claim My Capital and Profits:

I filed a lawsuit once again demanding the return of my capital and profits related to the project from the start of the contract until the contract's termination. The case was registered under number 439159072, dated 6/8/1443 AH, with Division 44. I attended the first session, but neither the judge nor the opposing party attended. The session was postponed to another date after several months. Then, I attended the second session, but neither the judge nor the opposing party showed up. The session was postponed again for several months. Suddenly, minutes before the third session, the session was postponed for several more months. Then, minutes before the fourth session, the session was postponed again. Finally, I attended the fifth session where Judge Abdulmajid Ibrahim Al-Mutarrid was present, but the opposing party did not attend. The judge started quickly and said, "You are asking for your profits and capital, correct?" I said, "Yes, that's correct, and it is clearly mentioned in the lawsuit statement." He then asked why I didn't file the lawsuit in the Dar'iyyah court, since the property is in Dar'iyyah. I replied that the defendant's office is in Riyadh, in Al-Muqayliah neighborhood, and the law stipulates that the lawsuit should be filed where the defendant is located, not where the dispute occurred. He then asked why I didn't file it in the commercial court. I replied that the jurisdiction for this dispute lies with the General Court, and the case was referred to the General Court by the case auditing center. The defendant had previously filed a lawsuit in the General Court, which ruled to terminate the contract, and the judgment became final. He asked how much I was claiming, and I responded that it was stated in the lawsuit. He said, "Yes, that's correct." He then asked if I had a copy of the defendant's commercial registry. I replied that I did, and he asked me to read the description of the business activity. I read it, which was "management and operation of commercial and residential properties." He immediately ruled to dismiss the case, as it falls under the jurisdiction of the commercial court (Attached 15 the first initial judgment, number 4430357002, dated 12-5-1444 AH). I immediately told the judge, "The General Court has jurisdiction over the dispute, and the partnership between us is a partnership of money and work, which is a 'Musharakah' partnership, and the dispute relates to a specific property, which falls under the General Court's jurisdiction." He responded, "If you object, you will go to the Court of Appeal, and if you do not object and the ruling becomes final, the case will automatically be transferred to the commercial court."

I did not file an objection and waited for the transfer. The judge delayed the transfer deliberately for three months. I submitted several inquiries regarding the delay and received no response. I also submitted requests to transfer the case to the commercial court, but each time the response was that there was a technical problem and the system was down. An IT employee informed me that there was no actual technical issue, so I asked him to contact the division. However, the division did not respond to him. After three months and several complaints to the President of the General Court in Riyadh, as well as attending the division in person, the judge decided to transfer the case to the commercial court. I attended the first session in the commercial court in Riyadh, but the opposing party did not attend. The judge transferred the case to another joint division consisting of three judges, as the amount claimed was over one million riyals. Our question was why it wasn't directly referred to this division from the start, and the judge replied, "I don't know."

Stage of Referring the Case to the Commercial Court:

I attended the first session at the Commercial Court in Riyadh before the 7th Chamber, and the judges, Ahmed Al-Mutlaq, Mohammed Al-Otaibi, and Abdul Rahman Al-Juraawi, asked to be provided with the documents. The judges said, "This contract is two contracts, and we do not know which one was dissolved: the partnership contract or the management contract?" We clarified that this is one contract, not two. The judge then said, "I will request an explanation of the judgment from the chamber that dissolved it."

Six sessions passed while waiting for the response, but no reply was provided. Judge Abdullah Hamad Abdullah Al-Hamad from the 16th Chamber at the General Court in Riyadh refused to provide an explanation or respond to the inquiry from the Commercial Court, which is a violation of the system because the system mandates him to respond. We informed the chamber that there was no impact from this inquiry because the period for claiming profits is a specific timeframe, and this is one contract, not two. Whether one or two contracts were dissolved, it has no effect since the claim is time-limited.

The chamber was not convinced by the evidence and documents we provided, which included the contract, the expert's report, and the court judgment dissolving the contract. The chamber stated, "We believe you are not a partner." We then requested that the chamber ask the defendant. The chamber asked the defendant, "Is Zaid a partner?" The defendant replied, "Yes, Zaid is a partner." The chamber then asked, "What type of partnership?" The defendant answered, "Zaid provided both money and work." The chamber then asked, "Is this description correct?" The defendant replied, "Yes, it is correct."

The chamber appointed an expert to visit the project, review the documents, and carry out the accounting work. However, we were surprised when the chamber canceled this decision, claiming there was no need for a new expert, and that the previous expert's report was sufficient. This reasoning is in contradiction to the claim, the system, and logic, as the system stipulates that if there is a previous report related to the matter, the chamber must clarify the nature of the relationship and discuss the report with the parties. The previous expert's report has no relevance to the subject of the case or its timeframe.

The chamber then ruled directly to reject the claim based on reasoning that contradicts the contract, logic, and the expert's report, and the judicial acknowledgment (Attached 16 the second preliminary judgment No. 4530537307 dated 22-6-1445 AH). The judgment stated that Zaid is not a partner in both money and effort, but rather a (Speculator Partner) and is not entitled to the capital because it does not belong to him. The expert's report also mentioned that Zaid is not entitled to any profits, which is, of course, incorrect! We were forced to respond to the judge's illogical reasoning for rejecting the claim, which contradicts the contract, judicial acknowledgment, evidence, and documents, by filing an appeal. This is against logic, the system, and the law because all the required evidence was presented during the hearing and was neither considered nor discussed.

Stage of Appeal:

The primary court ended with a ruling against us, rejecting the case on the grounds that I am not a partner. We began the first session in the Court of Appeal in Riyadh at Circuit 9, with judges Abdul Salam Al-Matarodi, Yusuf Al-Mishari, and Khalid Al-Thuwaini. I attended the first session, but the opposing party did not attend. The objection was rejected without any reason, and no discussion took place despite my objection being based on the law and highlighting violations. The ruling was confirmed (Attached 17 Judgment No. 4530863932 of the Appeal Court, dated 29/8/1445 AH). The Court of Appeal ended by upholding the initial ruling, rejecting the case on the grounds that I am not a partner. We filed a cassation request with the Supreme Court, which was rejected without any reason. This is in violation of the law, the contract, judicial principles, and represents a contradiction in the decisions of the Supreme Court.

In Summary:

This case reveals many suspicious issues. What type of evidence do the judges want for me to prove that I am a partner in both capital and effort? I have presented the contract, the expert report, the contract termination document, witnesses, and facts, yet the judges were not convinced! I then asked them to question the opposing party, and the opposing party admitted the validity of the partnership and its nature, which is a judicial acknowledgment, making further evidence unnecessary. Yet, the judges were still not convinced! This is a violation and a greater issue than the violations in previous cases.

Supreme Judicial Council Stage:

I filed a complaint with the Supreme Judicial Council, which was registered under number 230724201, dated 14/4/1445 AH, where I detailed the violations and manipulations. The complaint was referred to the Judicial Inspection, but they refused to provide me with the name of the inspector, and the complaint was closed without any benefit.

Phase of My Visit to the Expert and Discussing the Report Two Years After It's Issuance:

I visited the accounting expert, Al-Kanhal, to ask him why this paragraph was written in the report: "It was not proven that I paid for the work program from my personal funds," which is a paragraph that is legally unproductive and has no effect. He was initially flustered, then said, "You're coming after two years of the report's issuance to ask about this?" I replied, "Yes, because this sentence has had an effect in another recent case that I lost." He became flustered again and called the company's lawyer. The lawyer asked what the matter was, and I told him there was an error in your report, which was one of the reasons I lost the case. He laughed and said, "File an objection to the ruling." I told him I didn't come here to ask what I should do. I came to ask why this sentence was written in the report. He didn't respond. The company's accountant, named Shaaban, an Egyptian national, intervened and said, "The report was issued, and it's over. We can't do anything about it, and we already sent an email about this to your lawyer." I repeated, "I didn't come here for you to serve me; I came to ask why this sentence was written in the report." He became hostile and said, "You're actually accused of embezzlement and didn't disclose all your revenues," said in a threatening manner as if trying to scare me and avoid answering my question. I replied, "My current issue with you is about the expenses, not the revenues. I didn't come here to discuss revenue disclosure or embezzlement. I came to find out why you wrote this sentence in the report and why you refused to visit the location and perform your work properly." He mockingly said, "Go ahead, file a complaint."

Phase of My Visit to the Expert Commission and the Accountants' Authority:

I went to the Expert Commission at the General Court in Riyadh and informed them about the error made by the accounting expert in the report. They told me that it was not within their jurisdiction and referred me to the Accountants' Authority. I went to the Accountants' Authority and informed them of the matter, and they said that it wasn't their responsibility and I should go to the Expert Commission at the court. I informed them that they had referred me to you because the person was an accountant. They said, "If he was appointed by the Expert Commission, then he is considered an expert; go back to the Expert Commission." I returned to the Expert Commission and informed them of the response from the Accountants' Authority. They told me that the expert’s opinion was not binding on the judge. I said, "I know that, and it is the judge's mistake, but I am asking for the expert to be held accountable for his error in performing his work." They refused to respond and simply said, "We have nothing to do with this issue."

5. The Lawsuit I Filed to Claim Compensation for the Value of Lost Benefits (Opportunity Loss):

While filing the second lawsuit for claiming profits and capital, I also filed a lawsuit to claim the compensation for the value of the lost benefits for the project from the beginning of the contract until the date of its termination "Ajrat Al-Mithl" (equivalent rent). This was because the opposing party was manipulating contracts and rental values during the term of my contract, during which they forcefully expelled me. The case was registered under number 439159065 on 6/8/1443 AH. I attended the first session, but the opposing party did not show up. The judge requested the documents and the drafting of the lawsuit. Then, the judge asked for evidence, and he requested the opposing party to respond, but their response was not objective. The judge then requested witnesses. He then suspended the case for deliberation and study, and later suspended it again. I filed a complaint with the court, and the judge excused himself due to vacation. I filed another complaint, and the judge excused himself once more due to vacation. I went to the court immediately on the session date to file a complaint and was surprised to find the judge present in the court!

I filed a complaint with the head of the court, and the judge suddenly apologized for continuing with the case because the opposing party’s attorney was a fourth-degree relative of his. He then asked the opposing party’s attorney to bring in another representative for the defendant. In the following session, the judge hurriedly demanded that both parties write quickly what they had in order to increase the pages of the case, and then immediately ruled to dismiss the case with an illogical and system-inconsistent reason that contradicted the contract, the evidence, and public policy. (Attached 18, First Instance Judgment, No. 4430878426, dated 20-10-1444 AH).

Stage of Appeal:

The court reclassified the case as a claim for compensation for the loss of earnings, and the court of first instance ruled against us, dismissing the case with an unclear and contradictory reason. The first session in the Court of Appeal was scheduled in Riyadh under Circuit 10, and the judges were Abdullah Al-Labon, Abdul Mohsen Al-Ghaith, and Hani Al-Jubair. I immediately filed a complaint with the head of the Court of Appeal in Riyadh, Abdulaziz Saleh Al-Ridiman, requesting a change in Circuit 10, as its judges had previously violated the law, falsified my statement, and manipulated the session's records in the previous case (No. 411443802). However, no action was taken.

I attended the first session, and the objection was rejected without any reason. The objection was not discussed, and the judgment was confirmed. (Attached 19, First Appeal Judgment, No. 4530048117, dated 15-1-1445 AH).

After the session against me ended, a meeting was scheduled with the head of the Court of Appeal. When I met him, he started shouting loudly and aggressively, asking how I could claim that the judges violated the law, and how I could accuse them of saying things I did not say. I responded, "Ask them directly. I have filed several complaints to the inspection and the head of the council, and you refused to provide them with the recordings." He then said they would study the matter but no action was taken. I sent several inquiries via email to his office, but there was no response.

The Cassation Stage at the Supreme Court:

The Court of Appeal confirmed the first instance judgment by dismissing the case. We filed a cassation request with the Supreme Court. The cassation request was accepted, and its decision (No. 6892389) clarified that the plaintiff, Zaid, is claiming compensation for the loss represented by the claim for the value of the benefits lost during the partnership because the partnership was valid, and he was responsible for the leasing as stated in the contract.

In Summary:

Here, I would like to highlight the absurdity and the contradictions in this matter. How is it possible for the Supreme Court to annul the ruling regarding the value of the lost benefits but not annul the original rent in the same contract?! How is it possible to accept the status and reject it in the same contract?! These decisions are illogical, unjustifiable, and in contradiction with the system and Islamic law.

Stage of Returning to the Court of Appeal:

The case was returned to the Court of Appeal in Riyadh and referred to another chamber, number 16, with judges Muhammad Al-Otaibi, Ali Al-Rajhi, and Mansour Al-Qafari. We attended the first session, and the chamber requested an explanation regarding the difference between this case and the case concerning the claim for capital and profits at the Commercial Court. We informed them that the case before them is a claim for lost profits, while the other case is a claim for capital and profits. The chamber asked, "Isn't the claim for profits the same as the claim for lost profits?" We replied that profits refer to what was recorded in the accounting books, while lost profits refer to what was not recorded due to the opponent manipulating and hiding the profits. We requested an expert to go out and evaluate.

The chamber refused to appoint an expert, as their visit would prove my right and the state's right. They then confirmed the original judgment, rejecting the claim with a different reasoning that both cases (profits and lost benefits, i.e., rent equivalent) are one and the same and were filed on the same date (Attached 20 Second Appeal Judgment, No. 4530858123, dated 25-8-1445 AH). This, of course, contradicts the Supreme Court's decision, the contract, public order, private law, and the evidence.

Stage of the Second Appeal to the Supreme Court:

The Court of Appeal did not comply with the previous Supreme Court decision and ended up confirming the primary judgment to reject the case with different reasoning from the previous one. We submitted a second request for cassation to the Supreme Court, clarifying the Court of Appeal's violation of the prior cassation decision. The Supreme Court once again addressed this incorrect classification, annulled the judgment, and decided that the chamber did not adhere to the correct classification previously issued. The claim is for compensation for my loss of rent equivalent, not to be confused with the issue of jurisdiction. The Supreme Court's decision (the principle) addressed the incorrect classification of the case.

Phase of Return to the Court of Appeal for the Second Time:

The case was returned once again to another chamber, which is Chamber No. 1, and the judges were Abdullah Al-Huwaiml, Abdulaziz Abdullah Saad Al-Muqbil, and Ibrahim Al-Nakheilan. The chamber asked why the case regarding the claim for profits was referred to the commercial court. We answered that it was initially filed at the general court, and the judge decided to refer it to the commercial court. The chamber then asked the defendant whether Zaid had received any amount from the time of exit until the contract was terminated, to which the defendant replied no, he had not received anything. The defendant then presented the judgment issued against me rejecting my claim for profits and capital, stating that I was a limited partner. The chamber recorded this admission incorrectly, and when we informed them of the mistake, they completely erased the admission. The chamber then ruled to dismiss the case on the grounds that the general court has no jurisdiction, and the jurisdiction lies with the commercial court, despite all this time having passed!!! (Attached 21 Third Appeal Judgment No. 4630533106, dated 14-6-1446 AH).

Phase of Returning to the Commercial Court (First Instance):

The new session opened in Circuit No. 8, and Judge Muhammad Ibrahim Saleh Al-Khudairi decided to refer the case to a joint circuit, given that the claim amount exceeded one million riyals. This is a recurrence of what happened before, and we don't know why it wasn't referred immediately from the beginning. The case was referred to Circuit No. 6, with Judges Asim Al-Jariwi, Ahmed Al-Nuaimi, and Abdulrahman Al-Arini. The circuit immediately decided to dismiss the case due to the defendant's lack of standing (Attached 22 Second Initial Ruling No. 4630935025, dated 10/29/1446 AH). This is yet another farce. Initially, the court accepted the claim, then overturned it twice by the Supreme Court. Then, it went back to the appeal court, and a ruling was issued stating that it lacked subject-matter jurisdiction and referred the case to the Court of First Instance. Now, the court has ruled that the claimant's standing was not accepted!!! This is a new farce. At first, the claim is accepted and overturned twice by the Supreme Court. Then it goes back to the appeal court and is ruled to lack subject-matter jurisdiction and is referred to the Court of First Instance. Now, the claim is ruled to be unacceptable!!! How was the claim accepted in the case of demanding the original rent and not accepted for the fair rent?! And how was the claim accepted for terminating my contract and not accepted for the fair rent during the validity of the contract?! Clear and absolute corruption!!

Stage of Appeal:

The Court of First Instance ruled against us, dismissing the case due to the defendant's lack of standing. We began the first session at the Riyadh Court of Appeal, Circuit 9, whose judges were Bassam Al-Nusairi, Melhem Al-Melhem, and Khaled Al-Thuwaine. I attended the first session, but the opponent did not. I based my objection on the system and a statement of the legal and logical violations, as I relied on his admission of standing in the embezzlement and contract termination case, his admission of standing in the second profits and capital case, and the rulings' acquisition of the force of res judicata according to the system. The objection was rejected without any discussion, which constituted another squandering of my rights. The ruling was ratified (Attached 23, Appeal Judgment No. 4731373293, dated 3/18/1447 AH).

The Court of Appeal upheld the initial ruling, dismissing the case due to lack of standing. We submitted a request for cassation to the Supreme Court, but the request for cassation was rejected without stating the reason, which is contrary to the system and judicial principles.

Phase of the Supreme Judicial Council:

I filed a complaint with the Supreme Judicial Council, registered under number 183020, on 22/12/1444 AH, and I explained the violations and manipulations. The complaint was referred to the Judicial Inspection, and they refused to provide me with the name of the inspector. The complaint was closed with no benefit.

6. Another malicious lawsuit filed by my opponent against me:

After the referral of the fair rent case from the Supreme Court and the opening of the pleadings in the Riyadh Court of Appeal for the second time, the opponent immediately filed a new malicious lawsuit against me, demanding his profits of more than ten million riyals from the beginning of the partnership until the date of dissolution. It was registered in the Riyadh Commercial Court, Circuit 13, No. 4670616814, dated 5/29/1446 AH, and its judges are Ibrahim Al-Hussain, Abdul-Azim Al-Jariwi, and Abdul-Rahim Al-Othman. The lawsuit was based on the ruling issued against me in the case of my claim for my profits and capital, in which it was ruled that I am not a partner in money and work, but rather a speculative partner, and that I am not entitled to capital or profits. His evidence for his claim is that he considers my claim for my profits in the previous case to be an acknowledgment from me of my entitlement to 8 million riyals, and based on that, he is entitled to 10 million riyals according to the percentage in the contract, and he requested the appointment of an expert to calculate it. Of course, this is contrary to reason and logic, and contrary to the system and Sharia, as this is considered an inverted lawsuit. The circuit ruled that the commercial court does not have jurisdiction over this lawsuit, and this is contrary to the system and contradicts the previous ruling!! (Attached 24 of the first preliminary ruling No. 4630558212 dated 6/21/1446 AH). Then it was referred to the Large Circuit 2 of the General Court in Riyadh, whose judges are Saif Nasser Mohammed Huwaimel, Sulaiman Mutab Sulaiman Al Shamri, and Mohammed Abdul Rahman Abdul Aziz Al Majed. The circuit decided to refer it to Circuit 52 of the General Court in Riyadh for lack of jurisdiction, as its jurisdiction is related to real estate contributions and claims exceeding fifty million riyals. I submitted a memorandum and attached a copy from the website of the Supreme Judicial Council and a copy from the official Saudi Press Agency of the administrative decision to amend the value of the amounts that the large circuits are competent to consider to be ten million riyals or more (Attachment 25). When I attended the new session at Circuit 52, whose judge is Youssef Abdullah Abdul Rahman Al Tamimi, the clerk Khalid Mohammed Ibrahim Fahid asked me, without the presence of the judge, to respond to the lawsuit. This is a violation of the system, as he does not have the right to ask me to respond to the lawsuit without the judge's order and presence. I informed him that I had submitted a memorandum stating that the circuit does not have jurisdiction over the value of the lawsuit, but rather it is within the jurisdiction of the large circuits that deliberately made a mistake and referred it to you. My request was not answered, then the judge attended and everything I mentioned was ignored and he decided to proceed. They moved forward with the matter and appointed an expert to calculate his share of the revenues only and closed the session immediately without responding to the aforementioned grave errors in the subject of the lawsuit. Moreover, his decision is considered contradictory to previous cases. How can I request the appointment of an accounting expert and he does not accept it, while he makes a similar request on the same subject, in the same capacity and under the same contract and he accepts it?! Why is my share of the revenues not calculated?! Why is the entire contract period not mentioned until termination?! This is considered a clear and blatant contradiction and bias..!! I immediately submitted a memorandum objecting to this decision and requested that the revenues of all parties be calculated, not just his revenues, for the entire contract period, but I did not receive a response (Attachment 26). An accounting expert was automatically appointed by the Experts Authority, namely Dar Al-Nokhba Company, Accountants and Legal Auditors, pursuant to Expertise Decision No. 214269 dated 6/26/2025. The expert shared his profile, but there is nothing indicating his specialization in real estate. Rather, what was mentioned was industry and energy, and this is a catastrophic error (Attachment 27, the expert's profile and report). The expert began his work and requested the report of the previous expert, the office of Abdul Aziz Al-Kanhal, Accountants and Legal Consultants, issued in the case related to embezzlement and termination of contract No. (411443802). We clarified the errors issued in it and submitted his admission of the error and presented evidence of that, and I asked him to go out to the project and do the work to the fullest extent. The expert refused to do so and was satisfied with only approving the report of the previous expert without making any effort..!! I informed the department about this matter and it refrained from taking any action and immediately issued its ruling obligating me to pay the amount mentioned in the expert's report without any real study or scrutiny of the matter (Attached 28 of the second preliminary ruling No. 4731379181 dated 4/3/1447 AH).

Appeal Stage:

A new session is scheduled, but frankly, I don't have much hope given my previous negative experiences with courts and judges and the many catastrophic errors that will lead to the loss of my rights.

While I was between the United States and Canada, I had my last hope that justice would prevail and that rights would be restored to their rightful owners in the malicious lawsuit filed against me by the Benaa Real Estate Investment Company, owned and managed by Abdullah Nasser Abdulaziz Al-Shathri, who stripped me of my full rights. Unfortunately, the errors and manipulations continued despite the clarity of all the documents proving my entitlement to the claims. In truth, the court's decision wasn't a surprise to me after a series of judicial farces. In reality, the impact of this decision on me was extremely negative because it was my last hope, indeed, the bullet of mercy to my last hope. I hoped the esteemed court would be fair to me and restore my wasted and stolen rights after a series of calamities that had befallen me. I dreamed every day about this case, which, if it had been fair, would have returned me to my beloved homeland to start over. But hope evaporated, and I realized I was chasing a mirage. Anyone who reads the court's rulings will fully understand what I am saying.

Fourth - My Exit from Saudi Arabia:

This stage was a turning point in my life and the beginning of a new phase in my life. After I despaired of ever obtaining my clear rights guaranteed by regulations, laws, Sharia, contracts, and commercial documents, and despaired of ever holding my opponent and everyone who had harmed me accountable, I organized my entire documentation, gathered everything related to my cases and personal and commercial documents. I then closed all my institutions and companies, and liquidated all my business and personal affairs.

I decided to leave the country permanently and without return, fearing continued violations of regulations and manipulation of my rights, and to protect myself, my rights, and my remaining assets. I also decided to exercise my right to express my opinion and expose everyone associated with and implicated in this crime.

I have a right to myself and my assets!! How could I remain in a country where my rights are being violated and where my assets are being seized before my eyes and before the eyes of all concerned parties, while these concerned parties sit silently and do nothing? She is covering up this crime and even complicit in it. Not only that, but the greater tragedy is the use of the judicial system as a tool to protect my opponent and legitimize the seizure of my funds for his own benefit.

Threats Stage:

- On 26-3-2020, two days before the seizure, my opponent, Abdullah Nasser Abdulaziz Al-Shathri, attacked me at his office, located in a residential villa in the Al-M'athar neighborhood behind Al-Takhassusi Street. And He threatened me, saying loudly and with two fingers, "I am the son of Sheikh Nasser Al-Shathri. King Salman comes to us... and if you don't give me money, you know what will happen to you. You have no one to blame but yourself."

- On 11-5-1444 AH, the head of the Supreme Judicial Council, Walid Al-Samaani, threatened me with imprisonment when I explained my situation to him and reached the point that the appeals judges had implicated me in things I hadn't said. He immediately interrupted me and angrily said, "This is a serious accusation, and it leads to imprisonment." He wanted to intimidate and deter me so that I would withdraw the complaint.

- My opponent, Abdullah Nasser Abdulaziz Al-Shathri, threatened my attorney Badr Al-Shiddi that he would break his hands and feet and run him over with a car if he continued to defend me and pursue my cases.

- During the litigation period, I received threats from unknown numbers, stating that I would not smell a single riyal and would ride as high as I could. They also threatened me with municipal fines if I did not revoke the municipal license for the project's activities and also threats if I don't give them Google Maps data.

- I was receiving statements and testimonies from acquaintances telling me that Abdullah Al-Shathri, Nasser Al Arifi, and Abdullah Al Ajmi were saying in their private meetings that they were going to discipline me and make me regret it...and for what?? I don't know!!

It is clear to Your Highness that starting from the violation of my rights during the coronavirus lockdown and the refusal of the Diriyah police to accept my complaint and refer it to the Public Prosecution, continuing with Judge Mohammed Al-Luhaidan's aggression towards me and his leniency with my opponent during the first session, followed by his unexplained replacement and the arrival of Judge Abdullah Al-Hammad, who initially ruled in my favor and then withdrew his ruling without reason, then the actions of the Appeals Court and Judge Abdullah Al-Laboon, who attacked me during the session and forged my statement in favor of my opponent, followed by the manipulation of the complaints by the Inspection and the Higher Judicial Council, then the rejection of my lawsuit due to lack of standing, the manipulation regarding my capital and profits, then my complete removal from the partnership, along with the conflicting rulings, manipulation of my rights, and the judges' failure to adhere to judicial professionalism and their deliberate and intentional violations and mistakes, and culminating in the big question: Where is my capital that I invested in the Diriyah project...!!!! How was it seized by someone in a position of power with an unjust and illegal ruling?

Therefore, all of this...

I request Your Highness to refer the entire matter, including the cases, violations, and both private and public rights, to an impartial committee that is capable of reading, understanding, and interpreting the law. The committee should summon all the parties involved, regardless of their social status or positions, to achieve justice and ensure that I receive my rights, holding accountable all those responsible for the injustice, abuse of power, and concealment and collusion in seizing my funds.

And Your Highness is the one who said that the citizen's rights are more important than my own...

May God guide you and grant you success in recognizing the truth and ruling accordingly... There is no place for corruption among us...
